

Non-Exec IT Director & Interim Management

Would you like to have the best IT management talent without blowing the budget?

Non-Exec & Part Time IT Director

Technology is at the heart of many organisations and for many years it has promised greater efficiency, increased productivity, better communications and accurate reporting and yet many senior management teams and board members are still frustrated by the complexity, cost and performance of IT in their organisations.

In many cases the IT function in an organisation is managed and driven by technical staff and suppliers that are focused on the technology, its implementation and support, which in itself can be very demanding. However, this can lead to a disconnect between the business and the IT staff which in turn can lead to expensive technical solutions that ultimately fail to deliver the required business advantage or return on investment.

Many organisations have now recognised the need to align business and technical strategies and the importance of leveraging technology. However, it can be challenging for many organisations to appoint an individual who can deal with the day to day operational demands of today's complex business systems and also deal with aligning IT and business strategy, adoption of best practice and operational review.

Futurestate Consultancy delivers these services with only our most experienced consultants and managers. The result, support and guidance for boards and senior management teams who are looking to better understand the challenges and opportunities presented by IT. We also provide specific advice on IT operational management best practice and guidance on governance, compliance and accreditation where appropriate.

Each member of the Futurestate team has a minimum of 15 years operational and senior management experience across a range of industries and many have operated at board level with in a broad spectrum of private and public sector organisations.

Our unique combination of business and technical skill and the excellent value that our service represents led one client to comment;

"Without exaggeration, getting Ian and Futurestate on board to help us is the best thing we have ever done"

Interim & Part Time Management

Many organisations find it difficult to have a team with all of the skills and experience that are required in today's complex workplace at a cost that makes sense.

Interim and part-time senior managers and consultants can have a big impact on your business without the need for the expensive and complex executive compensation package.

Consider the following benefits;

- Highly experienced and skilled managers and consultants
- Immediate availability to address your business needs
- Zero recruitment costs
- No benefits package to pay for
- Consultants and managers ready to work with the latest IT and communication tools
- Our interim and part-time managers can call on the experience across our entire team
